DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

2. Claim 8 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as based on a disclosure which is not enabling. A means for identifying acute phase of stroke is critical or essential to the practice of the invention, but is not enabled by the disclosure. See In re Mayhew, 527 F.2d 1229, 188 USPQ 356 (CCPA 1976).

The written description does not disclose a means for identifying stroke nor acute phase of stroke, which is required to satisfy 35 USC 112(6).

3. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

4. Claims 7-8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

5. Claim 7 recites the limitation "the treatment" in line 1. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim.

6. Claim 7 recites the limitation "the acute phase" in line 1. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim.

Art Unit: 3761

7. Claim 7 recites the limitation "the occurrence" in line 1. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim.

8. Claim 7 recites the limitation "the flow" in line 5. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim.

9. Claim 7 recites the limitation "said airflow" in line 5. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim.

10. Claim 8 recites the limitation "the treatment" in line 1. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

11. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless -

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

12. Claim 7 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Remmers et al (US 5645053).

Remmers discloses an air flow generator (4), an interface adapted to fit a patient (6) and a conduit (tube that interconnects 4 & 6) to flow between the generator and the interface, the flow being delivered at a pressure above ambient, and which is capable of doing so during a patient's acute stroke phase as defined by applicant.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

13. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

14. Claim 8 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Remmers in view of Zacouto (US 5305745).

Remmer substantially discloses the instant application's claimed invention to include a means for applying CPAP during the acute phase of a stroke, but does not explicitly disclose a means for identifying a stroke. However, Zacouto disclose such (See any fig). The references are analogous since they are from the same field of endeavor, the medical arts. At the time the instant application's invention was made, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to have taken the device of Zacouto and used it in combination with the device of Remmers. The suggestion/motivation for doing so would have been to monitor the patient for stroke during ventilation of the user with CPAP to insure optimal oxygenation was retained throughout. Therefore it would have been obvious to combine the references to obtain the instant application's claimed invention.

Double Patenting

15. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970);and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321© may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

16. Claims 7-8 are rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-4 of U.S. Patent No. 6336454. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because both disclose the use of CPAP devices to treat stroke during acute phase.

Conclusion
